Public Spaces for all

World Cities Day

An illustration of a city scene. It features two tall, light blue buildings with white windows. In the foreground, there are several stylized human figures: a person sitting on a bench, a man in a pink shirt and orange pants, a woman in a pink dress, and a child. To the right, a person is riding a bicycle. A small house with a brown roof is also visible. The entire scene is rendered in a simple, flat style with a limited color palette.

Unmindful of the midday heat, these eager enthusiasts continue to navigate the various planes of the skateboard park donated by UNICEF to provide a space for Tacloban's players to improve their craft..as obvious in the bright-colored helmets worn by these kids, safety is important in shaping our future athletes #LoveThisSpacePH #PublicSpace

Public spaces ought to be open and inclusive. The gates of this one (Kennely Ann Binay Park) seem to be always closed. Even the cats are excluded haha. #FixThisSpacePH #UrbanOctober
